Not just another tree

Residents fight removal of black walnut

The towering black walnut tree in front of the house at 201 West Franklin St. in Edwardsville is not just another tree.

Helen Miller, 83, still lives at that address, as she has for all but three years since she was born there. The tree, and the hedge around the house, were planted by Miller's parents, Nathan and Hattie Forshaw, soon after they built the house in 1909.

But now the tree is in the way of the city and state's plans to relocate Illinois Route 159. The new road may require the widening of West Franklin as a connector street, which would wipe out the old tree.

Miller is one of many residents in the LeClaire neighborhood fighting plans for the connector route.

"My father came over from England to work as a machinist at the N.O. Nelson," said Miller, sitting on a porch swing in front of the house.

"My mother's father also worked there, and he was not happy about my mother marrying an immigrant."

When Hattie was 23 and Nathan was 27, Hattie acquired a marriage license at the Madison County Clerk's Office, where she worked. The two lovers eloped at St. Mary's Catholic Church and bought two lots on West Franklin in the LeClaire neighborhood.

After Nathan Forshaw built the house on one of the lots, he planted the tree, the hedge of English privet and lots of other things. "He loved gardening and fruit trees," Miller said. "We had such a garden then, and there isn't much left of it now."

Helen Miller was born in the house in 1914, and she also eloped when she was 16. She and her husband, Norbert, now deceased, spent 55 years together, all but three in the same

Council approves change in wards

35 homes moved into Ward 7

By Michelle Duell
Staff writer

The Granite City City Council Tuesday unanimously agreed to change the boundaries of two wards and approve an application for more than $800,000 in Community Development Block Grant funds.

The change in ward boundaries involved moving an area from Ward 4 to Ward 7 to make the boundaries conform with changes in precinct boundaries. The precinct changed were made recently by Madison County.

According to a map prepared by Juneau and Associates of Granite City, the boundaries that were changed start from Richmond Avenue on Nameoki Road, go to the corner of Pontoon Road and extend on Pontoon Road as far as Terrace Lane.

"This brings about 35 homes from Ward 4 into Ward 7," said Alderwoman Kim Affolter,

"The sanitation department thought that they were Ward 7, but the fire department thought they were Ward 4. People didn't know where to vote."

who represents Ward 7.

The reason for the change came about after residents in the area signed a petition to be put in Ward 7, Affolter said.

About a year ago in June, she said, the council approved the change.

Madison Mayor John Hamm made appointments to several governing bodies at the city's council meeting Wednesday in what he called an effort to "take care of the taxpayers and clean up this city."

The first of his appointments went to Alderman Ron Grzywacz of Ward 2, who resigned Wednesday night to become superintendent of the street department.

"Ronnie was asked to give a hand (with the street department) about 60 days ago, and on every project — training

"I am very satisfied with the street department and the work they put out."

As a replacement for Grzywacz, Hamm appointed Ted Ostrenga the new alderman of Ward 11.

$5 million jail finally in use

Prisoners are being moved in

At last, the Madison County Sheriff's Department is using the new addition to the County Jail, 405 Randle St.

The $5 million addition was completed last year but has been plagued by problems including plumbing clogs and electronic security glitches.

Capt. Robert Hertz, chief deputy, said about half of the 66 beds in the new addition will be used by the end of this week.

"We still have problems, but we will be moving in six trusty prisoners and 12 who are doing county time," Hertz said.

Trusty prisoners are those with excellent records who are assigned to duties inside the jail. County time prisoners are usually misdemeanor offenders, some of whom serve time on weekends.

Both are considered low security risks, which is desirable because of ongoing electronics problems in the addition, Hertz said.

Police tracking leads in shooting in Venice

Victim still in critical condition in hospital

By Michelle Duell
Staff writer

Police have been unable to make any headway into the investigation of a drive-by shooting that occurred last week in Venice, though they are investigating several leads, Police Chief James Newsome said Wednesday.

Henry Henderson, 32, who was shot in the back last week while walking in the 100 block of Baucum Avenue on his way home, is still in critical condition at a St. Louis hospital, and police have not been able to question him, Newsome said.

A Madison detective is helping in the investigation in which witnesses described the assailants as two or three black men riding in a cream-colored pickup truck with a camper shell on it and a blue-green tailgate, Newsome said.

The vehicle bore no license plates, but apparently had an orange license application sticker in the window, Newsome said.

None of the witnesses were able to identify which of the assailants fired the shots that injured Henderson, Newsome said, but police were able to determine from shells found on the sidewalk that a 9 mm semi-automatic weapon was used in the shooting.

"He (the victim) was just walking down the street by himself — maybe going home," Newsome said.

Police still have no motive in the shooting. "We are still waiting to talk to the victim."

some said. "He was walking in the direction of his home. No one else was injured in the shooting."

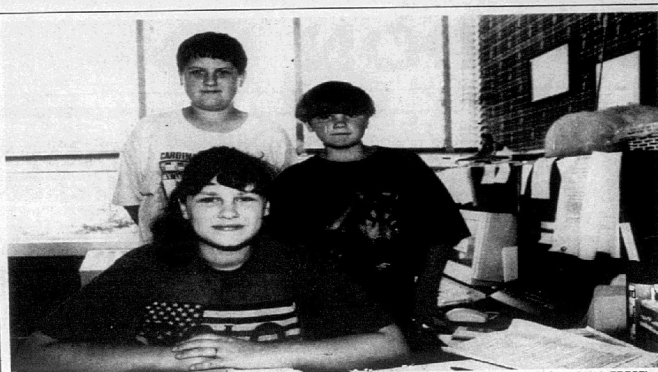

Newsome, who said he arrived at the scene of the shooting, which occurred at 1:23 p.m. June 11, called an ambulance that transported Henderson to St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City for emergency treatment.

He then was transferred to a St. Louis hospital, Newsome said.

Police still have no motive in the shooting, Newsome said, adding, "We are still waiting to talk to the victim."

Newsome said the street where the shooting occurred, which is in North Venice, "is not necessarily a dangerous area."

"It is known for people to deal drugs up and down that strip there," Newsome said.

Coolidge School walkathon helps raise funds to buy basketball equipment

By Michelle Duell
Staff writer

Three students at Coolidge Middle School in Granite City recently got a chance to serve as principal for a day as a reward for collecting the most money in a walkathon that raised funds to buy equipment for the school's basketball court.

The three students — seventh graders Joshua Griffin, 13, and Jacob Smith, 13, and Alicia Gaines, 14, an eighth grader — raised about $250 each by collecting donations and walking two miles around the school's track.

Altogether, the many students who participated raised $5,300, Principal Rick Talley said.

In addition, a $1,000 gift from Wal-Mart will be given to the school because of the students' efforts to raise money, he said.

The money will be spent on new backboards and a new scoreboard for the basketball court, Talley said.

The students were principal for a day on June 11.

"They took us to the board office and took us out to eat," Smith said, describing the day he spent as principal. "There were no new rules for the day. But we could walk around the school and classrooms and say, 'Hi,' to friends and make announcements."

"We also got to check and see what they (the students) were doing," Smith said, adding, "A principal's job is harder than I thought. They have to answer phones all day and type and make tough decisions."

Gaines said she liked taking the tour of the board office and learning how it operated.

"It was a lot of fun," she said.

In addition to the tour, "we had to run errands and answer phones like a principal," Gaines said. "I realized the principal's job is harder than anyone thinks. All the students pile up in his office, one after another, and he probably doesn't get to go to lunch on time."

Griffin, who participated in the same activities as his fellow "principals," said he raised his money by asking people who lived on his block for donations.

"My mom took it to work and my grandma asked her church to contribute," he said. "I also went to relatives, and we collected the money after the walkathon."

The other two students said they raised funds the same way.

Kim Gindler, the vocal music teacher, was the catalyst behind the walkathon, Talley said.

"Last year, she suggested the idea because she wanted to raise money for a new marquee," he said. "So, we did it. This was our second year (for the walkathon)."

Talley said the art, music, technology, home economics and physical education teachers administered the event this year.

Gindler no longer teaches at the school. She resigned this year.

County to sell surplus guns

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

At least two Madison County Board members feel that surplus guns from the sheriff's department would be better off in a smelter than with a gun dealer.

During Wednesday's monthly board meeting, Harold Byers, D-Highland, and Dick Worthen, D-Alton, voted against accepting a bid of $15,925 for the purchase of the guns. The bid, one of two, came from the Law Enforcement Equipment Co. of Kansas City.

The board approved the sale by a 2-2 vote.

Byers questioned whether the county should "get into the business" of selling handguns when there are 200 million in society today.

"In the future, I think we should look at disposing of them — maybe at Granite City Steel," Byers said.

Worthen agreed.

"There are already too many guns around," Worthen said. "A lot of places are trying to get rid of them through buy-back programs. The least we could do is take these guns off the market."

But Homer Henke, D-Moro, said he recently attended a seminar in Springfield and spoke with gun dealers from around the United States. Henke said the guns being sold could be purchased anywhere with a Firearm Owners Identification card.

"No weapons are sold that aren't legally able to be sold," Henke said.

SALUTE TO AMERICAN WORKERS

When you own furniture sold by Barewood Furniture Gallery, you own a piece of American history. That's because our furniture is made with a certain kind of pride. The same pride that once made American craftsmen the envy of the world. And before the turn of the century, American made products were indeed, second to none. Today, there are those who have turned away and unseeing, but we have turned back and see the days of quality and pride are gone. OPINION

SOUND OFF!

To call the Journal "Sound Off" line, dial 344-2340 and leave your message. We won't print personal attacks or unfair criticism of individuals or businesses. Please keep your comments brief and reasonable.

Have some consideration

I'm calling about the June 4 (Sound Off) on "Enforce the law." I completely agree with that person over the trash and everything, but that person doesn't consider the disabled. I would love to put a trash can on the street but I cannot carry it. Being disabled that's hard enough for me, but I can use a trash bag. So if that person (would be) willing to come out and put it out for me and bring it in, then I'd be glad to use a trash can instead of a trash bag. Have some consideration for the disabled people.

Bring back listing

Would you please consider in your paper putting the (names of the) deceased on the front page, from the obituary column? This took place years ago and I think it would be a very nice thing if your paper would consider it again.

Don't cut trees ...

I don't think it's right for people to go around cutting the trees down. The big, beautiful trees. They're there for our environment and when you cut down these trees it makes the city ugly. We need our trees ... If you don't have to cut down trees and it's not necessary, please don't do it.

A new low

How low can Republicans in Congress go? I can't believe they are playing politics with the disaster relief money for the flood victims in the Dakotas.

Loose dogs

I'd like to third the opinion for people on (the 2300 block of State Street) that don't have dogs. The last time I checked it was the mayor do their jobs and pick up the dogs that are supposed to be on leashes and they run loose all the time? When they kill one of my kids I'm going to sue this town and retire because we're all sick of it...

Slow 'em down

I'm calling to say I totally agree with the person who called in about the speed bumps on the perimeter of Wilson Park (in Granite City). We go over every Thursday to our grandson's baseball games and we walk sometimes around the park and it's terrible the fast drivers. Are we going to have to wait until some child runs out and is run over before something is done about this?

Editor's note: Another caller expressed the same opinion.

Still a sin

I am just thrilled that some of these Air Force colonels are getting in trouble for adultery. The last time I checked it was still one of the Ten Commandments, and it's about time that men start realizing — and women too — that it is still a mortal sin to commit adultery.

Just curious

I live in Quiet Village subdivision in Pontoon Beach. I'm just kind of curious why the police department a while back was ticketing everyone who didn't have a license plate on their car, but yet they let a person run a used car lot out of his driveway on Iris Drive.

Kudos for Clinton

Look at all the changes for the better our country has seen since President Clinton took office. We have record low unemployment, crime is down, the Dow Jones average is about to hit 8,000 ... and the economy is as strong as it has been in decades. Thank you, President Clinton.

Use blinkers

I would address people who forget to stop signs who don't use their blinkers. I ride a motorcycle and I have almost been hit a couple of times because you just assume the person is going straight since they don't have a blinker on. And they look at me like I'm the idiot ... Please use blinkers at four-way stop signs.

Move on

I was reading in today's paper, June 11, about "A Good Decision" on the School Off how they think the school board made a good decision to hire a new band director. Well, I'm a member of the Band Parents Association and I was one of the people who was up there trying to convince the school board not to hire Mr. Tim Mason. He inherited a very bad program and he has done wonders with it. But we have to go on past that and accept the fact that they made their decision, whether it was good or bad, and we have to accept the new band director and support our children and continue on.

Rained on her parade

I'm calling regarding the Shriner's Parade that was held in Granite City on June 4. Without any other words to call it, it was a big joke. No, it got started late — without any kind of warning or anything. We sat right across from the reviewing stand. Hardly any of the groups other than the Shriners even performed. The only other band besides the Shriners was the Granite City High School band. They stopped probably 50 yards from the reviewing stand, stopped playing and then just walked on. The people that were on the parade didn't even see very friendly — you would have at them and they would just look at you. There was an abundance of fire trucks, ambulances and police vehicles, and I guess these EMS people don't realize that when they lay their sirens, that really does hurt people's ears, especially the little kids. And that's what the Shriner's parade is for.

Send us your letters, columns

The Granite City Press-Record/Journal welcomes both letters to the editor and guest columns.

CAROL'S COMMENTS

'Hey sailor...' Watch out!

Anyone out there who remembers the lyrics of the original "Bell Bottom Trousers"?

Not the sanitized version but the one detailing the plight caused by the young Drury Lane serving maid's response to the sailor's requests, to wit, "He asked me for a candle to light his way to bed, he asked me for a kerchief to tie around his head, and I, like a silly lass, thinking it no harm, jumped into the sailor's bed to keep the sailor warm."

Luckily this young man lived well over a century ago because were he around today, there'd be one less jack-tar climbing the rigging. Instead, he'd be in a military courtroom facing one or another sexual misconduct charges and the serving maid, chief witness for the prosecution.

What began as military inquiries into serious accusations of rape, sexual harassment and abuse of power at Aberdeen, Md., has escalated into a virtual hunt to uncover the sex lives of any man or woman wearing the uniform, as long as it was outside the bonds of marriage, and regardless of whether or not it was consensual or how long ago it occurred.

The press, I'm ashamed to say, eats this kind of stuff up and panders incessantly to what it appears to believe is a totally voyeuristic public. Shame on us.

Military rules are confusing to a lot of us civilians and this on-going brouhaha is doing little to clarify them. Rape, of course, is a crime of violence and a felony. Sexual harassment and abuse of power, which also occurs outside the military, is easily understood as a threat to what the military refers to as "good order and discipline." No one, least of all myself, wants to make a case for adultery, but as far as I know, speaking as a civilian, it's not a crime. A violation of the Commandments, a moral transgression, grounds for divorce, of course. Criminal? Not yet, and according to a recent Gallup Poll of 643 adults, 61 percent said it should not be in this country and, further, 58 percent didn't believe it should be criminal under military law.

There seems to be a difference to me, at least, in the cases of Lt. Kelly Flinn and Air Force Gen. Joseph Ralston and it's not discrimination against Flinn because of her gender. But both of them are on the outside looking in, in terms of jobs they coveted. In Flinn's case, she refused to obey orders to knock off an adulterous affair and lied about it. Therein may well lie a breach of the rules dealing with good order and discipline. So she'll never again fly a B-52.

Ralston, on the other hand, never lied about an affair he had 13 years ago with a civilian woman during a period in which he and his wife were separated. His wife, apparently, forgave him and the military appear to have ignored it at the time. Nevertheless, he won't become chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

It doesn't seem to me that, necessarily, this indicates a double standard. Certainly, no politician was going to risk going out on a limb for him in the face of a possible public backlash, but he's not out of a job.

It's puzzling, too, that in view of the fact that these military rules against sin have so often, in the past, been honored in the breach, that such a to-do is being made currently.

The press, I'm ashamed to say, eats this kind of stuff up and panders incessantly to what it appears to believe is a totally voyeuristic public. Shame on us.

Maj. Gen. Joseph Hooker wasn't relieved of his command during the Civil War because of his army of camp followers. We all still liked Ike after we learned of hanky-panky with his British chauffeur. And Mamie forgave him. To say nothing of our presidents (including Ike, of course) who, after all, are also Commanders-in-Chief and who fooled around. In my own lifetime, I can count at least four, maybe five.

Most of us chuckled indulgently over the fictional Maj. Frank Burns and "Hollips" Houlihan of "M*A*S*H." But until the current crusade dies down, watch it, you fellows on shore leave, and beware of that enticing, "Hey, sailor..."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

City heading down the tubes

TO THE EDITOR: What's happened to Granite City? Do you ever ask yourself that question? Have you looked at our streets, our houses, the "for sale" signs in the yards? Have you gone downtown? What town?

Do you ever go to other small towns like Collinsville or Wood River? They still have towns plus their little malls. In Granite City, we have empty lots, boarded-up buildings, trash in the streets and on the sidewalks. No wonder people go to other towns and do their shopping.

Take a look at our older neighborhoods — what used to be nice homes and well-kept yards. If you think I'm talking through my hat, take a drive up Washington Avenue from the mill. Cars are parked on the sidewalks, over the curbs, the wrong way. The houses are falling down, empty houses boarded up with grass up to the porches and trash in the streets.

Come look in the 2400 block of Washington Avenue. This block used to be a quiet, clean, nice block to live on. Not any more. The older owners still try to keep their places nice. But what's the use?

Some say, "move away." But why should we give our property away?

We have lived here most of our lives. We have paid our taxes, our sewer bills, trash bills and anything else the city asked for. Now it is time our city government does something for us. All we ask is our city start enforcing some of the laws, like making people keep their property clean and their alleys clean.

What would happen if we all put up privacy fences and just threw our trash over like some dog? It would really be a mess. Keep the grass and trash out of the streets. Keep the kids' toys off the sidewalks, so if a person wants to walk down the street, they can walk on the sidewalk and not in the street. Have the businesses keep their places clean, especially the ones that are in neighborhoods.

Some day the older ones will be gone and the ones who are letting their property go down now will be the old. Who will be living next to them? Only time will tell, but as each neighborhood goes, so does Granite City.

I-64 closures scheduled this week

The Illinois Department of Transportation has announced that more lane closures are scheduled for I-64 near Fairview Heights.

The right lane of westbound I-64, at Illinois 159 in Fairview Heights, was closed Monday, June 16. The lane closure will be in effect until July 15.

The eastbound and westbound lanes of I-64 will also be subject to lane restrictions from Illinois 157 to Illinois Route 111. The westbound lane restrictions will be delayed until after 9 a.m. daily, and all eastbound lanes will be opened by 3 p.m. daily for rush hour traffic. The lane closures are required to install traffic detection devices, with work being completed by Wissehr Electric.

In addition, the two north and southbound lanes of Illinois 159, at the I-64 interchange, will continue to be open but reduced in width while the roadway undergoes construction.

The work is being done in order to widen the bridge on northbound Illinois 159.

Good wheat crop predicted

Farmers foresee good harvest for first time in three years

Farmers are optimistic that their lush green wheat may sprout into green cash at the market for the first time in three years.

"The wheat crop looks good, and that's a big relief for us," Madison County farmer Eugene Daiber said. "We've had only one good crop in the last five years."

The maturing young wheat has turned the countryside into a beautiful green setting along 100,000 acres in Madison, Jersey, Greene, Calhoun and Macoupin counties.

Daiber drove along fields of wheat in the scenic country of Marine Township of Madison County.

"The quality of the wheat looks fine," said Daiber, who planted about 265 acres on his farm. "Much of the 1996 wheat didn't survive through the winter. I harvested only 40 percent of a crop last year."

Cold winters and heavy rains destroyed much of the wheat crop in 1995 and 1996 in the five-county Telegraph area, costing farmers more than $50 million.

"Last year's wheat crop was pretty much a disaster," said Robert Belm, a crop adviser for the Cooperative Extension Service in Madison County. "It looks excellent so far this year."

Across the state, more than 63 percent of the wheat crop looks good, said Tim Payne of the Illinois Agriculture Statistics in Springfield.

"The wheat is so much better compared to the last two years," Payne said.

Farmer Tony Joehl planted about 140 acres of wheat on his historic Alfalfa Queen Farm on Godfrey Road.

"The wheat looks nice and green," Joehl said.

"The cool spring in years has slowed the growth of crops across the area."

"The cool weather is holding back the growth of wheat, corn and alfalfa," Joehl said.

The cool, cloudy days this spring also will delay the wheat harvest this summer.

"We usually start the wheat harvest around June 25," Daiber said. "The cool weather may hold up the harvest until July. We need some sunny, 80-degree days to ripen the wheat."

Madison County farmers could realize as much as $8 million at the market for their wheat on nearly 60,000 acres, said Belm, the farm adviser.

Farmers depend on the summer wheat harvest as an important cash crop to pay farm bills, said Bill Sackett, a grain buyer at Overbeck Feed Co. in Highland.

"Farmers rely on the cash from wheat to pay for fertilizer, seeds, fuel and equipment on the farm," Sackett said. "Farmers need a good wheat crop this summer to bring in some income after the last bad wheat years."

Sackett buys as much as 1 million bushels of wheat in a good production year.

"Last year was a terrible wheat year, and we bought only 250,000 bushels," he said.

Phil Thornton, general manager of Jersey County Grain Co., said he is hoping that farmers will unload a big harvest of wheat at the company's grain bins at Jerseyville and Hardin this summer.

"In a normal year, we'll receive up to 400,000 bushels of wheat," Thornton said. "Last year was bad. We received only about 150,000 bushels of wheat."

Teens aid elderly, disabled

By Jason White Staff writer

Teens from three states came to East St. Louis last week to help build and refurbish homes of elderly and disabled residents.

The Summer Paint Project is an annual project organized by Project Helping Other People Emerge (HOPE). The paint project started 18 years ago.

This year, the teens painted three homes on N. 57th Street, N. 81st Street and Exchange Avenue. The teens also worked on the interiors of the homes.

Teens from churches in Norman, Okla. and Springfield, Ill. worked on the three houses.

The Springfield group has been coming back for 15 years, Project HOPE Executive Director Rev. Bud Jones said.

"The Youth Summer Paint Project provides teens with a formative experience in their own Christian development, and it helps them to expand their understanding of mission and service," Jones said in a news release.

The Oklahoma group, from First Christian Church in Norman, learned of the project through youth coordinator Amy Sabert-O'Brien, who moved to Norman from Shawnee, Mo.

Members of O'Brien's former church, St. John United Methodist Church, contacted Rev. Jones and Project HOPE.

O'Brien's peers in the youth group said the work is hard but rewarding.

"I really like to see the people," Shelby Jones said. "They seem to enjoy it a lot and appreciate what we're doing."

Jon Hall agreed. "The hard part is scraping the paint off the walls," he said. "But it still gives you a good feeling, no matter how hard the work is."

Kassandra Shaw, 15, of Independence, Mo., once lived in a small building behind the house on 57th Street. She is also the grand-daughter of the home's owner, Minnie Russell.

"This was what I've been waiting for," Shaw said. "I want her house to be looking nice before I go home."

"It's like a new birth," Russell said. "They are beautiful, beautiful people."

"I'm going to miss them when they're gone."

5000 aid Cancer Society

By Kimberly Haas
Staff writer

Rain may have dampened the grounds at Belleville East but not the spirits of those gathered for a good cause.

Over 500 people gathered at the East track Friday and Saturday for the second annual Relay for Life. Proceeds from the 24-hour event go to the American Cancer Society for research on the deadly disease.

This year, nearly $71,000 was raised by the teams participating in the walk. Teams were required to have at least one member on the track at all times, walking, running or jogging, rain or shine, from 6 p.m. Friday to 6 p.m. Saturday.

"What an event," said Volunter Coordinator Jere Wilmering.

"I was walking the track between 1 a.m. and 2 a.m. (on Friday). There were about 50 people out walking in the rain."

"There were some carrying umbrellas. I was just stunned. I expected only a handful of people to be out there," he said.

About 40 people volunteered to help with the event, Wilmering said.

Relay coordinators originally set a goal of $20,000 for the event, said co-chairperson Dick Schneider, and they were pleasantly surprised when the event surpassed the goal.

"It's a great event. There are a lot of wonderful people involved in walking in the rain. The bad weather didn't have a significant effect."

Coordinators expect next year's event to be even bigger and will begin planning for it by next month, Schneider said. Last year, only 15 teams participated, raising $20,000 for cancer research.

Thanks are due to everyone that was involved in the Relay for Life, Schneider said. "Those are out to everyone people to thank," he said.

If you would like more information on the 1988 Relay for Life, contact either Dick Schneider at 626-5116 or the American Cancer Society's Collinsville office at 345-7911.

Event will aid stray animals

By Cheryl A. Moody
Staff writer

People who care about stray and unwanted animals can show their concern Saturday at the annual golf tournament at Old Collinsville Road in Belleville.

Companion Animal Rescue Effort (CARE) for St. Clair County is holding its first annual golf tournament to raise funds for medical bills and other necessities associated with stray animals.

The cost of the four-man scramble is $160 per team, which includes green fees, carts, lunch and prizes. CARE President Terri Vest said 50/50 drawings will be held throughout the day. At CARE's last function, the 50/50 winner walked away with $294.

Vest is hoping about 25 teams participate in the scramble. Tee times for the golf scramble are 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. or 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Hole sponsors are also being sought for the event. The cost of sponsoring a hole is $100.

The non-profit group which formed last fall adopts out stray and unwanted animals. "We are still in desperate need of foster homes," Vest said. "I don't have any place to put the animals looking for homes are."

Among the animals looking for homes are:

14-month pure-bred male Rottweiler named Buddy

13-month female hound mix named Mimi

12-month female shepherd mix named Sassy

Since last September, CARE has adopted out 25-30 animals and has a current membership of 82. Anyone interested in entering the golf tournament or making donations of any type should write to CARE at 1250 N. Lincoln, O'Fallon, 62269, or call 624-4365.

ty moved this area into precinct 21 from precinct 22.

After the county changed the precinct boundaries, there was confusion as to what services the residents were entitled to and fire protection. Affolter said.

"The sanitation department thought that they were Ward 7, but the fire department thought they were Ward 4. Affolter said the people didn't know where to vote."

"They (the residents) wanted to belong in Ward 4," Affolter said. "The residents feel they will finally get the representation they are entitled to."

The Seventh Ward has grown by leaps and bounds in the last four years, Affolter said, adding it now has 1,500 homes and three major apartment complexes.

Also, Ward 7 currently has two major developments ongoing — the construction of Legacy Golf Course and Partney Estates, a home development, she said.

Poster Frederick is the alderman of Ward 4. In applying for the CDBG funds, the aldermen asked for $803,520 for the following projects:

North Granite drainage Phase IV, $120,000.

Senior Youth Program, $80,000.

Infrastructure improvement, $233,320.

Demolition, $30,000.

Housing rehabilitation program coordinator, $20,000.

Rehabilitation loan program, $60,000.

East Granite rehabilitation project, $100,000.

Aerial fire truck, $50,000.

superintendent of streets before Hamm was elected mayor, was appointed comptroller soon after Hamm took office.

In addition to appointing Ostrenga alderman Hamm made eight library board appointments. They are: Sue Skokilo, Elaine Shipcoff, George Smith, Judy Moss, Tammy Foley, Dawn Hamm, Kim Obrenski and alternate Rene Garretti.

Dawn Hamm, the mayor said, is his daughter.

"She is a teacher in the history department at Granite City High School, served in the armed forces for three years, and is a very stern individual. I feel she will do well in this position," Hamm said.

Another one of Hamm's appointments was Eric Harey, who will be humane officer, a newly created position.

Before Harey was appointed humane officer, a dispatcher with the police department was acting in that position.

He worked 12 hours a day, and didn't have time for the job, Hamm said.

Hamm's final appointment was John Crenshaw, who was made probationary police officer.

He will be attending the police academy while beginning his career with the Madison Police Department, Hamm said.

Catering to the stars

Culinary Arts Club gives BAC food service students real-world experience

Belleville Area College's Culinary Arts Club does not mind catering to the whims of its clients. In fact, club members prefer it that way.

The culinary club, comprised of students involved in BAC's Hospitality/Food Service Management (H/FSM) program, has catered numerous dinners and meetings for community organizations over the past several months.

Most notable among its recent jobs was a Jan. 25 buffet dinner for country music star Mel Tillis and his entourage at the Ainsworth Shrine Temple in East St. Louis. Tillis was performing two shows at the Shrine Temple and dinner was served between shows.

The next day, Culinary Arts Club members returned to the temple to cater a Super Bowl party for Shriners and their families. And, on March 1, club members will cater the Ainsworth Shrine Temple Ball, which is expected to draw about 600 people. Guests can look forward to a meal of ribeye steak, jumbo potatoes, mixed vegetables and chocolate brownies.

John Carver, administrator for the Ainsworth Shrine Temple in East St. Louis, said BAC has earned its many jobs for the Shriners.

"They put out a good product for the dollar," Craver said. "I'm very impressed with their professionalism and enthusiasm."

Mike Hayes, coordinator of the H/FSM program, said club members use the money earned from catering jobs to help pay for their annual trip to the Restaurant Show in Chicago.

Hayes said six students, along with instructor Chef Ollie Sommer, work each catering job. The students are used on a rotating basis to give all H/FSM students an opportunity to go out on a job, Hayes said.

"We grade them on several things: appearance, food preparation, food serving, and their level of professionalism," he said.

For more information on BAC's Hospitality/Food Service Management program, call Hayes at the college's Granite City Campus, (618) 931-0600.

SIUE gets engineering funds

Governor's visit culminates 10-year effort for new building

It wasn't a real check for $21.3 million, but the oversized replica Gov. Jim Edgar presented to SIUE officials Monday for a new engineering building still generated plenty of excitement. "This culminates a 10-year effort to bring an engineering building to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville," said university President Ted Sanders, who thanked Edgar for pushing for funding for the building during the past several years. He also understands that higher education is important to the state's economic development," Sanders said.

Edgar stressed his commitment to technical education in the state as a means of forging a strong economy in the future. "I'm a firm believer that the most important thing we can do as a state to ensure we have a strong economy is to see we have an educational system that is second to none. Our educational institutions are perhaps the best indicators of what job opportunities there will be in the future. This project will allow SIUE to offer excellent educational opportunities to students who come here," Edgar said.

Some 200 people attended the check presentation ceremony Monday.

The three-level, 97,000-square-foot brick-and-glass-front building will be built on the west side of the SIUE campus near Circle Drive. It will face the new Art and Design Building, which is to the south of the proposed building.

Inside the future building will be an atrium that will separate administrative offices from classrooms and research laboratories, said Steve Hanna, associate dean of the School of Engineering.

Work already has begun on the parking lot, which is an expansion of a current lot west of the Communications Building. "It's very exciting," said Hanna. "This will culminate in having a wonderful facility for our students, as well as our faculty. It's a very important event."

Hanna said architects are reviewing and revising six-year-old design plans, then will prepare bid documents. Requests for bids are expected to go out this fall, with construction beginning late fall or next spring, he said.

Completion of the building is expected by summer of the year 2000.

Officials at SIUE have discussed the need for an engineering building for the past 10 years, with planning beginning seven years ago. Obtaining the funding, however, has been a legislative roller coaster during the past two years. Money was appropriated by the state, but legislators wouldn't approve selling bonds to fund the state-wide capital improvements. Last February, there was a breakthrough when Edgar and legislative leaders agreed to issue $610 million in state bonds to pay for new buildings and improvements of state-owned facilities.

female prisoners had been moved into new beds, Hertz said. Sheriff Bob Churchill has held off opening up the entire new area because of the ongoing problems.

The biggest concern is an electronics malfunction that affects the detection of open cell doors.

Churchill has met with the County Board's Buildings Committee repeatedly about the problems.

Other work continues in the jail. Double-bunking in the old section is about 50 percent complete, said Marty Siglock, county administrator of buildings and land.

"We have installed about 26 of 46 new beds in the old part," Siglock told the Buildings Committee on Monday.

Siglock said a new jail parking lot to the west of the jail also is almost complete. Construction of new parking in front of the jail, and the addition of landscaping around the flagpole, is under way.

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Recently a man contacted this office and indicated that his mother had died. At the time of her death, there was a will providing that her property be divided equally among her three sons. She owned a home valued at $60,000, two Certificates of Deposit with a value of approximately $20,000, a car, and miscellaneous furniture at the time of her death. The question arose at the time of her death: The question arose as to how the property should be divided at the time of her death.

In this particular case, the mother had intended her children to divide the property equally. However, she had made certain children joint tenants with regard to the value of her husband's death, she had established a joint tenancy with her oldest son on her residence. Her middle son was named as a joint tenant on the two Certificates of Deposit while the youngest son's name was not included with regard to any of the assets.

Subsequent to the time the woman created these joint tenancies, she passed, indicating that all assets should be divided equally. It was obviously her intent to treat all children the same with regard to her property division at the time of her death.

However, when she established joint tenancies with certain of the children, she really defeated the purpose expressed in her will. Generally speaking, joint tenancy property passes outside the will. If a person creates a joint tenancy, the surviving joint tenant will take the asset in its entirety when the first joint tenant dies.

With regard to this particular case, this meant that the car and the furniture would be divided equally among the three children since these assets were not in joint tenancy. The home would pass to the oldest son as the surviving joint tenant, and the Certificates of Deposit would pass to the middle son in the same manner. Of course, the children could agree among themselves to divide the assets equally if they so desired.

However, the oldest son and the middle son would not be obligated to divide the joint tenancy assets equally if they were not so inclined. By establishing the joint tenancy, the mother insured that the surviving joint tenant would take the asset at the time of her death. Unfortunately, this result probably did not coincide with her real intention as expressed in the will.

Hockey registration
Registration dates have been set for the 1997-98 Granite City Amateur Hockey Association (GCAHA) season. Returning players and siblings may register 9-11 a.m. Saturday, June 21 at the East Alton Ice Arena. New players interested in playing hockey may register 6-8 p.m. Wednesday, July 9 or 9-11 a.m. Saturday, July 19 at the East Alton Ice Arena.

Registration for "Learn to Play," a beginning hockey program for children ages 5-8 (as of July 1, 1997), will also be available during these times.

The GCAHA, also known as Steelers Ice Hockey, belongs to the Missouri Amateur Ice Hockey Association and USA Hockey, the national ice hockey organization. Ice hockey skaters and newcomers from Madison, Jersey, Clinton and Bond counties in Illinois are included in the GCAHA's service area. After skating evaluations later this summer, players will be placed on teams in the following five age groups: Mite (ages 5-8), Squirt (9-10), Pee Wee (11-12), Bantam (13-14) and Midget (15-17). All age categories are as of July 1, 1997. Practices and games are at the Wilson Park Ice Rink in Granite City and at the East Alton Ice Arena.

Fees for the 20-week hockey season are $375 for Recreation League (Jersey and holiday tournament fee), $550 for Travel League (plus a $25 non-refundable tryout fee) and $88 for Learn to Play. An additional $30 non-refundable USA/Missouri hockey member fee is assessed each registrant as well.

Each parent should bring his or her child's social security number and a copy of the child's birth certificate to registration. For more information, call the GCAHA hotline at 451-6013.

Softball tournament
The Granite City Park District will host softball tournament for both men and women in conjunction with its 4th of July celebration.

The tournaments will be double elimination and will run from July 2-6 at George Sykes Field. The entry fee is $70. Register at the Wilson Park office before 5 p.m. June 30. Trophies will be awarded for first through third place in each division.

For more information, call Ray Hoffman at the Wilson Park office (877-3059).

school. The Knights will have one of the biggest enrollments of the smaller schools. In fact, locally, only a few Class A schools have soccer—notably Waterloo, Gibault, Belleville, Althoff, Metro East Lutheran in Edwardsville and Columbia.

Villa was unaware of the IHSA changes when he decided to accept the job as soccer coach and physical education teacher at Triad last month.

"That was news to me. I guess that is a good thing," Villa said. "I don't know if you feel like you have a strong program, it was always (that) you wanted to play the next level. I know it has been kind of rough on Vince Drake at (Aquinas-Mercy). He has won a number of state championships on both the (Missouri) 4A and 3A level. I'm sure he's had some teams on the 3A level that he probably felt could have won the 4A. To that extent, I guess you are somewhat divided."

The other advantage that Villa could use to inspire his new players is the fact that the site for the Class A state finals is Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, which is just a few miles down the road from Triad. The Class AA state journey will remain in the Chicago area.

Villa doesn't want to set his sights on just being a small-school team, he wants to put Triad on the soccer map.

"Our goal down the road is we want to be as good as (large-school teams)," Villa said. "When people talk about the east side in soccer, the names that come up are Granite City and Collinsville. There are some teams that are starting to get into that level. O'Fallon and Triad. From there we are hoping to go to the next level."

During his 23-year coaching tenure at Vianney High in Kirkwood, Mo., Villa took the Griffins to the next level. He compiled a 463-107-66 record with seven state titles and one national title in 1992, when the Griffins went 33-2 and were ranked No. 1 nationally by USA Today.

However, despite all of his past success, Villa was relieved as coach after the 1996 soccer season.

Villa didn't elaborate on what happened immediately after his dismissal. And months later, he still says he has never been given a real explanation.

"It was a new administration that came in and I'm sure they had an agenda of some kind. What it exactly is, they really haven't told me," Villa said. "I think they felt I was a little too...I don't know how to put it. Maybe, I get a little too excited or yell at the kids when I am coaching too much. They didn't take my teaching job away from me. I coached the 'B' baseball team this year after they had dismissed me from soccer. I don't coach baseball any different than I coach soccer."

"Exactly what it is, I don't know. I don't know if money is involved, although they continued to give me my teaching contract."

Deep down, Villa says he felt his dismissal had to do with his teaching contract.

"I am at the top of the salary schedule, but yet they were offering me my teaching job," Villa said. "They may have known if they took soccer coaching away from me that I might seriously consider moving on. I don't know if that is the real factor, but I think it is. Again, I am speculating."

"Overall, with the way things have turned out, I am feeling very good about my situation. I feel very glad to be moving on to Triad. It is going to be a new and exciting experience."

to's back. We made them handle the ball and make the plays. They were finished after that."

Tim Wallace led off the fourth by dragging a bunt past the pitcher on the third base side of the mound. Fleenor then bunted down the third base line, beating the throw to first. While Wallace sprinted all the way to third and beat the return throw.

Smallie's bunt down the third base line chased Wallace home and moved Fleenor to second. Briggs' second triple of the day then scored Smallie and Ryan Relleke's bloop single to shallow right sent Briggs across the plate with the fourth score of the frame.

Tri-City led 8-2 after four innings and coasted from there. Chris Fiala and Jason Dix each threw one inning of hitless ball to close out the contest.

Fleenor, Smallie and Briggs, the Triplets' 1-2-3 hitters, combined to reach base 11 times with four walks, 11 hits, six runs and five RBIs.

"We've been playing very well," Burnett said. "We're hitting up and down the lineup. And what can I say about Kyle Briggs? He's going to be a tough out for anybody all year long."

Briggs was three for four with a pair of triples and three RBIs and made a spectacular game-ending catch. Briggs raced back and to his right in deep center field to spear Ted Cook's smash, the hardest hit Bethalto had on the night.

to be a major factor contributing to that success.

"He'll see a lot of playing time next year," he said. "He'll definitely catch. He'll probably play some infield as well. He is an absolutely great utility player—one of the best I've ever seen."

Another key contributor will be righthander Billy Niepert, who was 2-1 his freshman year with a huge win over archrival Washington University.

"Billy is one of our top pitchers, despite his youth," Hendrickson said. "He has the perfect mentality for a pitcher. He coach does a great job of calling a bulldog. He will be a huge part of our success next season."

Hendrickson, who himself is a quality pitcher for Granite City in the Monclair League, sees the biggest difference between playing and coaching as a matter of control.

"A coach does not have as much control of the game as does a player," he said. "That's something that can be really threatening to a lot of coaches. And, I think, it's a major reason why so many coaches at the college level tend to over-coach their players."

Walters said. "The Granite City team overall was as good as any high school team I saw this year—and my husband (Tim) coached the Missouri state champions (Lafayette). And Crystal and Amanda were a huge part of that overall quality and success."

Walters saw GCHS play three times this year and knew she saw two players who would fit right into her system in Nizinski and Timmons.

"What impressed me about both of them," Walters said, "was how well they worked the ball on defense and how well they read the game. And they are both so incredibly versatile. Their versatility will be a huge, positive factor for us next year."

"We're not a large school, we don't have a large roster of girls. Our players must be versatile. We'll move Amanda and Crystal around, and I know they'll do the job."

Walters anticipates both seeing a lot of playing time as freshmen.

"The first step right in and help us out immediately," she said.

"Walters was interested in both girls very early on," said GCHS coach Gene Baker. "She saw them right in their first game. She knows they can play a variety of positions and play them well. They are solid team players who make very few mistakes. Both of them can mark a player out of the game completely."

Baker's greatest satisfaction comes from the fact that he has coached go to college, contribute to the program, get a degree and succeed in life. He expects nothing less from either Timmons or Nizinski.

"They're winners in soccer and they're winners in life."

are quality programs led by quality coaches. And, with the exception of track, they all have quality facilities.

For a school this size and for a school this committed to quality, quality of the all-weather track complex is, truthfully, a shame. I'm hoping that will change soon.

In fact, I believe it will.

After all, one thing has really impressed me in these first six months on the job: Granite City treats its sports teams right.

DAR honors Mizell for service

Linda Mizell, regent of the Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the Daughter of the American Revolution, was honored at the Illinois State DAR Conference, held in Edinburg, Mo., March 21-23.

Each year, the "DAR Service for Veterans-Patients Award," a traveling plaque with engraved names, is awarded to someone who has provided exceptional service to veterans.

For a number of years, Mizell, who teaches at Niedringhaus School, has coordinated the writing of letters by the students, which are sent in bulk to a specified location. The letters are distributed all over the world to where American troops are stationed.

The school's PTA support assists with the costs of mailing these letters. Students are delighted to receive answers to their letters, and some have even been visited by service personnel going through the area.

Mizell will retain the plaque until March 1998, when it will be passed on.

Mizell's two daughters, a son-in-law and grandson had been alerted in advance so they could be present for the presentation. Other chapter members present were Emma Schoen and Barbara Williams.

The April meeting of the Drusilla Andrews Chapter was held in the home of Sandra Wilkinson. A light snack was served prior to opening the meeting.

After the opening procedure, Emma Schoen reported that some articles on education are indicating the amount of money spent since the 1950s has quadrupled, but the children are learning less.

Information about the new Illinois Cameo Society, involving grandmothers, daughters and granddaughters, was handed out to those qualifying.

Chapter recognition awards were presented at the State Conference for Pressbook articles, program donations to the state organization and for volunteer work during the Granite City Celebration year.

Alvina Thurau reminded the members to bring personal items for the patient at the Marion Veterans Hospital to the next meeting. They will be delivered personally in June.

A program on Cahokia Mounds — and its early development leading up to its inclusion on the list of the world's heritage sites in the mid-1980s — was presented by Mizell.

Also in attendance were Dorothy Whitmer and Judith Schatz.

ANNIVERSARIES

Rouland-50 years

Robert and Mary Rouland of Granite City celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary May 25, 1997, at the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

They were married May 17, 1947, at the same church. They renewed their vows before the audience at 2 p.m. with the Rev. K. Bruce Rushing officiating. Carol Farnsworth sang "Evergreen," accompanied by Carolyn Jenkins. The Roulands' daughter, Sharon Province, and their son, David Rouland, sang the "Wedding Song" as a duet. After the renewal vows, David Rouland sang "Through the Years."

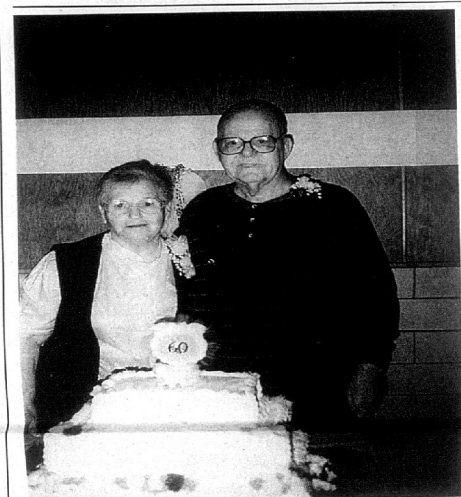

Rushing offered a prayer and invited the congregation to come forward and greet the couple and then proceed to Wesley Hall for refreshments. As the couple was being greeted, Jenkins played appropriate love songs.

Mrs. Rouland's brother, Joseph Tinsley, and his wife were in attendance from Marble Hill, Mo., as well as Mrs. Rouland's sister, Rosalee Wagner, from Okemish, Mich.

Also present were Gail Anne Adams, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Illinois; Phil Barnett, deputy grand master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Illinois; and Grace Gasperin of Collinsville, the district president of the Rebekahs. There were several other out-of-town guests from Collinsville, Alton and Edwardsville as well as a host of friends and well-wishers.

The National Honor Society of Granite City Senior High School recently held its annual initiation ceremony in the cafeteria. During the program, five seniors and 37 juniors were initiated. The seniors were Stephanie Arbogast, Sharon Jones, Daniel Kratzer, Michael Rudy and Sung Hee Suh. The juniors initiated were Mark Achenbach, Hillary Aerts, Casey Ashby, Dennetta Boyd, Jamie Briggs, Crystal Brown, Kathryn Cooper, Melissa David, Laura Davis, Timothy Dittman, Connie Evans, Tarrisa Faltor, Sarah Fielding, Rebecca Gehling, Steven Graham, Kimberly Greer, Valerie Hanks, Joseph Herman, Jonas Janek, Brian Kamadulski, Jay Scott Laird, Katrina Lloyd, Traci Manis, Ismahhan Mohsen, Salina Morlen, Steve Moss, Melissa Nelson, Rachel Rees, Kristin Ribbing, Kathleen Schermer, Kristin Solberger, Mike Stone, Anna Tapp, Vanessa Vangel, Gretchen Wiegand, Karla Williams and Jenna Wright. To become a member of the NHS, a student must meet certain requirements. A student must display the qualities of leadership, scholarship, character and service by participating in school and community activities, along with maintaining a 4.25 grade point average.

The program was called to order by Co-President Sangieta Kumar, and she led the Pledge of Allegiance. Principal William Rotter welcomed the members and the guests.

Entertainment was provided by the senior members of the NHS. Amy Tapp performed "Remember Me This Way" on the piano. Melissa Hammond performed the song "Down on My Knees." Melanie Gensert sang and accompanied herself on the piano to "My Favorite Things." Amber Giese and Carla Shehorn performed a flute and clarinet duet to "Barcolle in Canon."

Co-President Amanda Solomon gave an original oration about the meaning of the NHS. Introductory remarks were made by Mary Perdue-Tapp, NHS adviser. The 1996-1997 officers then gave their interpretation of the principles of the NHS. Kumar spoke on leadership, Vice President Cynthia Gorka spoke on scholarship, Secretary Susan Light spoke on character, and Treasurer Valerie Henson spoke on service. The initiates then recited the NHS pledge, led by Perdue-Tapp. The initiates were presented with their certificates by Rotter and NHS adviser Andrew Yurko. Rotter then welcomed the new members and stressed to them the importance of maintaining the principles and standards of the NHS.

2 local students take on technology

Niedringhaus Elementary School sixth-graders Nick Bronnbauer and Ariane Sendejas were among students from 100 public schools selected to take part in a demonstration of how technology is used to help students learn. The sixth annual technology demonstration, TECH 2000, Students for the Information Age, was held last month at the Illinois State Capitol Building in Springfield. "The TECH 2000 demonstration is to show lawmakers, business leaders and other interested people how technology can help students get ready for jobs and citizenship in the next century," said Niedringhaus music specialist Alicia Popilchak. From shop floor to executive suite, technology will play a key role in our economic future, Niedringhaus School wants its students to be ready.

TECH 2000: Students for the Information Age is a statewide initiative to educate lawmakers, business leaders and citizens about the need to have up-to-date technology resources in every Illinois classroom. Ultimately, the goal is to develop a statewide network of resources that schools can call upon for help in starting or expanding their use of classroom technology.

Over the past five years, TECH 2000 demonstration have shown legislators how students use information technologies to learn work skills and bring a world of resources to remote schools. The next step is to show legislators how their support for information technologies in schools will contribute to the development of Illinois economy and to the health of the state's communities.

Granite City School District 9 got a jump-start into this process when Mr. Bob Bischoff came on board as district technology director in 1995. Mr. Bischoff has been working diligently with his technology staff to equip all Granite City classrooms with computers and software for year to update staff members on available materials for their classroom use and teach new concepts in computer use.

Bronnbauer and Sendejas are part of an eight-member music/technology team under the direction of their music teacher, Alicia Popilchak. The team was formed from a Granite City School District pilot program begun at Niedringhaus School during the 1995-96 school year.

During the TECH 2000 event, the students were greeted by State Representative Tom Holbrook and given a personal tour of the House of Representatives while in session by State Rep. Steve Davis.

Also accompanying the students and their music teacher were District 9 technology specialists Mary Lou Schwab (who was instrumental in setting up the new music/tech pilot program) and Mrs. Sue Grable, both of whom serve as technology advisers at Niedringhaus.

'Fingertips' twosome schedule open house

Caterers to expand range of services

By Alene Hill
Correspondent

The newest catering team in Collinsville isn't really new in the food business at all.

Pat Hamilton and her mother, Barbara Eberts, who opened their catering, banquet and cake decorating business, "At Your Fingertips," this week are planning an open house Saturday, June 21, to introduce their range of services.

"We took a cake decorating class together and we enjoyed it so much we took more classes," said Eberts.

"That was 20 years ago and we've been decorating cakes ever since," said Hamilton.

Catering started when Hamilton began sending gourmet lunches to work with her husband, Charlie, who then worked at CPI.

"They asked me to cater then," Hamilton said. "That's how I began with the catering."

Hamilton, a Collinsville native, bought the property at 1009 Vandavia last October and gradually began accruing the necessities: commercial size preparation tables, oven and sink.

They now offer a range of services including an executive lunch program with a full hot lunch or sandwich selection, catering and banquet services, decorated cakes for an occasion, and private dinner parties on premises for up to six.

Daily lunch options include either the special of the day, a full meal including dessert or a regular sandwich selection.

"We also offer a light menu," said Hamilton.

Catering and banquet services are available with a wide selection of main dishes, anything from lasagna and roast beef to chicken Marsala or shrimp kabobs. Accompanying side dishes include the standard green beans and corn to more unusual options, such as cheesy potatoes and broccoli, rice and cheese casserole.

"Special Requests" list offers, among other selections, shrimp cocktail, appetizer buffet, or barbecue buffet.

"We have a wide selection and it's all made from scratch," Hamilton said. "I even make the tomato sauce for the lasagna from scratch. We don't open cans of sauce."

For Saturday's open house, the team will be preparing samples of their fried chicken, hand-made Salisbury steak, and lasagna, among others.

They will have on hand several decorated cakes, and Hamilton said, they are receptive to any custom cake designs.

"At Your Fingertips" also prepares after-dinner mints, specialty candies and hand-made bonbons.

Other wedding services offered include candelabra and pew candle rentals, center pieces and ball decoration supplies. Oil portraits done on photographs as well as photo restoration are also available.

An open house for "At Your Fingertips" runs from noon to 4 p.m. For information, call 346-5650.

HOROSCOPE

Thursday, June 19
Mars enters the realm of Libra, opening up exciting new career opportunities. There are more creative ways of making money, which is the focus of the morning. Those cooped up in offices need to stretch and will find ways to do it, even if it means going to the gym at lunch time. The moon in Sagittarius frowns upon boundaries. Expect someone to shake yours!

ARIES (March 21-April 19). A mate or good friend may come or go without warning, so don't let it shake you up. Be strong, self-reliant and resourceful — you're on top! Suggest a new way of doing the routine and you'll be heard.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Don't fret — call and find out! Today's the best day for filling out job applications, making sales calls and getting the lowdown. You'll receive delightful surprises from old friends and compliments from co-workers. Luck is with you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Try those hunches, new ideas and daring problem-solving approaches. Legal technicalities needn't hold you back — a trusted associate knows the ropes. Make sure you've thought things out correctly.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Do thorough research — then, relocate to that better job. New love becomes marriage. Expect greatly increased responsibility. An embarrassing error occurs. Co-workers need you to cover, but it's all in good spirit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Experience is your greatest ally. Recommendations make the difference in job-hunting efforts this week. You may even receive a call for a job you haven't applied for due to a friend's putting in good word.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (June 19). Love comes from every direction. Next month brings myriad cultural experiences that color the rest of the year. Money is plentiful in August and September. Lovers walk down a rocky road in late summer, but new relationships heal old wounds in October and November. A trip connects you to removed family. Your best signs for love are Aries and Libra.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Sympathize with others and they will reciprocate when you really need it. Playing games with management hurts your position. It's an easy transition to a place of more influence and authority.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). People may be surprised, but they take you a lot more seriously. Offer new services. Many changes are taking you into new territory, but you'll find when you get there that you're ready.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). It's the perfect time to make important, lifelong career changes. Friends introduce you to friends, and a whole new world opens up. Follow impulses that have been in the back of your mind for some time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Evening hours should be spent with loved ones. Kids need lots of "supervised independence" in which to try their wings. Try not to fall prey to the conversation of a hypochondriac.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Keep love and work separate. Plans are changed, but there's a special magic working. Offer your help to a charity. By agreeing too readily with a lover, you could actually hinder growth in the relationship.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). New enterprises are exciting, but don't go into deep debt. A strong friendship with a Taurus is helpful. Give yourself a chance to catch up because soon, a big push begins. This evening, babies are on your mind.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Remember last night's dreams — they may hold answers to questions you've been asking. Whether family approves of your love or not, you're ahead if you're happy. Health is aided by living right.
